Why We Started

Brothers United Who Dare To Care formed in 1996 to help black men take responsibility for their lives, their families and their community.

What We Believe

At Brothers United Who Dare To Care we believe everyone can be a voice in the community and that everyone can make a contribution to better our society.

What We Do

Our mission is to provide outreach and support services to minorities and others to increase minority development and minority contribution.

We encourage others to speak up for themselves and stand with them as an advocate to help resolve their issues. We work to better our community by providing information, training and support services to promote self-sufficiency. Most of our outreach is free including, the free computer training and free computers we give away in our volunteer exchange program. We have a cultural resource library with numerous books about black history, black biographies and black cultural topics. The library is expanding to include other minority heritage. We have a computer lab with high-speed Internet access. Everyone is invited to share what we have available and your contributions are accepted. Most of our programs are targeted for low-income to moderate-income minorities and minority business owners. We help the youth of our community with our partnerships with youth organizations. We are also involved in programs addressing health concerns affecting minorities. We distribute a community news publication.

- BUWDTC will provide information and educational materials as well as notification of career and business opportunities.
- BUWDTC will provide support services and training help others reach success.
- BUWDTC will offer support through advocacy.

What You Can Do

We invite anyone of good standing to volunteer to serve our community. You may donate time, money, books, videos, magazines, historic documents, computers, printers and computer accessories to our program.
