

“If you have something to say, SPEAK UP!”

Brothers United Who Dare to Care, Inc. presents this newsletter, “SPEAK UP”, in an effort to inform, educate and inspire the people of this community. Encouraged by an article in the March 2001 newsletter, “THE WRITTEN WORD” (Washington DC area), Oronde Miller wrote “There is currently a need for more strong African publications that can galvanize the attention of and mobilize the greater African community. This is our challenge today”. Brothers United Who Dare to Care, Inc., has accepted that challenge and we are providing this medium as an instrument to share information and ideas.

The newsletter will feature several sections to help draw and encourage contribution by all:
EMPOWER THE PEOPLE, This section will be dedicated to articles about training, self-help programs and any other information that can possibly increase the readers potential.
WORD ON THE STREET, this section will be dedicated to passing along information as to what is going on in the Jonathan Street area and our community as a whole. Listed may be notification of employment opportunities, home owner opportunities, and what our readers know of what is going on in our community that can benefit or effect us all.
SPEAK UP, this section dedicated solely for feedback, if you have something to say, SPEAK UP!

Subscription is free, contact Brothers United Who Dare, Inc. phone/fax 301 393-9290.

EMPOWER THE PEOPLE

Brothers United Who Dare To Care, Inc. will be launching the Community Enrichment Initiative (CEI), a platform which can bring training programs and workshops to the Jonathan Street community. The initiative will provide training that can help improve and add to the personal value of the participants (Empower The People) and contributors. The initiative would encompass youth programs, computer training, a scholarship fund and workshops such as “How To Improve Your Credit”, “ How To Buy A Home”, “How To Start A Small Business” and more.

Brother’s United is embarking upon a series of projects that will provide a “Living History” of African-Americans past and present in Washington County and the Tri-State areas through the Visual Arts medium. Western Maryland and her sister states were very influential and essential in the historical development of the United States. African-Americans and Abolitionists both in our region also played a key role in this country’s development. As you may already know, the “Underground Railroad” for slaves made its way through Western Maryland. This information is documented in our county’s periodicals and also in the National Archives in Washington, D.C. We wish to provide our youth and community with a sense of self-esteem and awareness of this history. In order for us to do this, and in the light of today's new and inexpensive technology, we are requesting funding for a small package of "state of the art" Digital Video Photography and Editing equipment. By obtaining this equipment we will be able to accomplish several important goals for our youth and community.

SPEAK UP

My grandfather, Caesar Doleman, attended the fashion show held at the Martin Luther King Jr. center, and he was in a wheel chair and could not use the building's wheel chair lift because the key to operate the wheelchair lift was not available. Where is the key to the wheelchair lift?
